Workers' Compensation & Complex Case Management

Practical support for employers

The workers' compensation process can be complex and difficult to navigate. The BelRose Group helps employers manage workers' compensation matters with practical, collaborative support focused on recovery, return to work and clear case management.

Active case management can help streamline the recovery and return-to-work process and reduce the longevity and complexity of claims.

People Purpose Workplaces

How we can support your organisation

Complex case management
Support for difficult or prolonged workers' compensation matters.

Workers compensation strategy
Practical case strategy tailored to the claim and your organisation.

Return to work plans
Structured planning to support safe and suitable return-to-work arrangements.

Insurer liaison
Support communicating and coordinating with insurers throughout the claim.

Facilitated discussions
Collaborative conversations to help move matters forward constructively.

Legislation interpretation and advice
Guidance on workers' compensation obligations and related requirements.

Support can be provided at any stage of a claim, including existing complex matters.

Three simple steps to making a workers compensation claim

1. Report injury to employer
2. Visit the doctor and obtain a workers compensation certificate
3. Complete and submit a claim form
